✍ In justice to the Cincinnati Enquirer it should be said that it advocated the admission of Kentucky with the Lecompton constitution, but in justice to the truth of history, it must also be said that it labored for several months, in a controversy with the Kentucky Fall, then edited by Dr. R. W. Clayton, a gallant, fearless, and able Democrat, to prove that the non-submission of the Lecompton constitution would be an all-sufficient reason to reject its effects by the people, and to prepare to march directly the moral influence of the Enquirer's advocacy of Lecompton.

✍ The Treston (N. Y.) True American comes out in a strong article in favor of the Hon. Jan. Guthrie, of Kentucky, for President, and Hon. Wm. C. Alexander, of New Jersey, for Vice President. Of the latter gentlemen the American says:

We suggest that New Jersey has claims to this honor, and that her unflinching fidelity to the Constitution, and her unswerving loyalty to the Union, and we know of no gentlemen around the State would more cheerfully and bravely from them they would more cheerfully unite, than from any other source. He was not, however, a defender of a deliberative body, he was no superior. As a public man he has ever been zealous and patriotic, his life, honorable, dignified, and without blemish.

MURDER OF A FARMER BY A SLAVE NEAR MATS-VILLE.—The Maysville (Ky.) Express of the 20th inst. contains the following item:

Frank Hamilton, a respectable farmer of this county, living on the North Fork, about three miles from Maysville, was on Monday evening killed by one of his slaves, on Monday evening last.

It is not known whether the slave was caught, although he is not believed to have the power to escape. It is not known whether the case will be referred to the Territorial Legislature had the power, or whether it will be referred to the grand jury.

Mr. Hampton, we're in, was about to chastise me for my ebullience through the neck, and I instantly fled. The neighborhood, however, was not so excited; the neighborhood, he had not been arrested; but many excellent prevailed, and many men were in pursuit of him. It was supposed that he would be lynched if found.

At the same time, I saw a Negro man belonging to the same family, who was quite a dark-skinned fellow, very singularly a week or two since. He was as good as dead, and lay on the ground, apparently in perfect health, and good spirits, and

We learn from our correspondent—that Congress had the power, and the Constitution enjoined the duty of protection, but it was not expected to protect. Can't Ben'ie take one more step and get clean out of his nesty position? We hope so. He has been back too long. He must stand, or denounce him every where as a traitor.

The whole secret of the matter is, Messrs. Editors, that the Opposition press of this State, their frantic desire and hope of breaking down the only remaining Union party, have lent themselves to do so unconsciously to the great considerations of the true position of the Republic. They seized upon the flimsy fact that he doubted the expediency and the exercise of this particular power of Congress and stated his position "elaborated, enlarged and improved," in their own terms, as being open to unqualified and strongly against the use of the

I know that it is not a matter of importance to the world, or perhaps, to any one unit, that my true position should be known; but it is somewhat important to me, and I have never told it before.

I am at this time as intense an American, or even more so, than I was at any other time in my life. You like the same better, you know. If the Democrats could discharge their poisoned arrows at our candidate, and throw the fire-brands of discord in our ranks, let the public judge of the justice of the charge.

If the officers of those Democratic papers that argue the question with such determined pertinacity, would please to come continually in the face of the Kentucky Democracy, we will not presume to judge. They can foresee the results and control them.

Acting under this resolve, I will not vote for Clement or Mallock for Justice of the Peace.

The question of slavery in the Territories is a multifarm phases is perhaps the most vexed and intricate in our national politics, and no subject has called forth greater sectional strife, produced more alienation of feeling or been attended with more disastrous results. It is a subject upon which for the last quarter of a century parties and politicians have split. It is a subject which divides

I have said nothing about these men more than truth justifies. Read what Judge Muir says of them—here it is. It is the opinion of the Court, and of the people, that they were not cast for the office of Jailer at the last August election, and that a certificate should have been given him." Again he says, in speaking of Clement and Malack who gave Thomas the certificate of election:

But who are they? They are but wholly and hopelessly insolvent, or if they are able to pay their debts, they are not honest enough to do it. CHARLES FRODSHAM'S
CHRONOMETER WATCHES
Boston, November 27, 1859.
We hereby constitute Messrs. JOHN KITTS &
CO. Sole and Exclusive Agents for the sale of the Watches made by Charles Frodsham, 64 Strand
London, for the city of Louisville and State of Kentucky.
S. WILLARD & SON, 9 Congress st.,

CHARLES FRODSHAM'S WATCHES
SIMON WILLARD & SON,
No. 9 Congress Street, Boston,
Sole Agents in the United States of America of CHAS.
FRODSHAM, 54 Strand, London, would respectfully give notice that, at the distribution of Prizes at the Great Paris Exhibition, 1855, the G R A N D M E D A L O F H O N O R was awarded to Mr. Frodsbam for the perfection of the principle, mechanism, and performance of the Chronom-

The most eloquent notice accompanying the award, written by a distinguished French lexicographer, says: "Mr. Frodsham is, therefore, has rendered eminent service to science; it is justice that he be rewarded for it, in at least with the eulogium of public praise."

In the new series, Mr. Frodsham has succeeded by a more perfect method of compensation, a more correct adjustment in the movement, and in an entirely new and peculiar construction of the train, in producing watches unaffected by changes of temperature, position or motion, or even violent exercise, and at the same time of unrivaled accuracy.

At the London Exhibition of 1881, Mr. Frodsham's contributions were noticed, bearing the stamp of peculiar merit and high ability on the part of the school. In recognition of the excellence of the principle of the time keepers, the British Government has awarded Mr. Frodsham the sum of £2,150.

Mr. Frodsham, after a great number of experiments came to the conclusion that the only way to improve the watch was by adopting the proportions of the Marine Chronometer, and, in consequence, this Mr. Frodsham has done. In the watches of the English School, it has been found that with strictly astronomical proportions they are quite at variance with many of those of the best modern construction. Experience proves the

The final adjustments of Compensation, Isochronism, and Positions,—whereby neither extremes of temperature, violent exercise, nor change of place, have any appreciable disturbing effect.

As a peculiar advantage, there is no danger of stopping in the middle of the motion, either in the course, or on horseback, or in any vehicle.

In over one hundred instances these watches have stood the test of actual daily noting, and have exhibited as a result, a rate equal in regularity to the best Ma-line Chronometers. In several instances, their performance at sea has been superior to the Chronometer. It is the only time-keeper on the line of railroads, or who avocations taking them frequently to the sea, make a perfect time-keeper less of a luxury than a necessity, these Watches are recommended with the most complete confidence.

Wm. Brown, Esq., a distinguished engineer of Ohio, writes of these watches: "Finally, from what I have seen of the Chronometer Watches, I am strongly impressed with the belief that they are the most accurate of all other time-pieces, and were they set in gimbal, and used with some care, I think their performance would equal that of Mr. Frodsham's celebrated Box Chronometer."

ter, and would answer the same purpose for determining longitudes." Boston, Dec. 1, 1856.

Messrs. Willard & Son—Gentlemen: The gold watch, Chas. Frodsham, No. 7,166, I purchased of you, has performed with wonderful accuracy. During the three years I have owned it, it has never been one minute from the true time, and for one period of nine months its variation was less than two seconds. I never supposed a pocket watch capable of such perfection of time. Yours, truly,
J. W. H. HYER.

Boston, Nov. 30, 1856.

Messrs. Willard & Son—Gentlemen: The Charles Frodsham Watch, No. 5,629, I purchased of you last year, has performed with all the accuracy of a Marine Chronometer, keeping a rate with astonishing regularity. For the last eighty days its variation has been but one second.

Yours truly,
OLIVER ELDREDGE,
late of the U. S. Steamship Atlantic.

PROVIDENCE, Dec. 17, 1857.

Messrs. S. Willard & Son—Gentlemen: I take much satisfaction in bearing testimony to the extraordinary performance of the watch I purchased of you, made by Chas. Frothingham, of London, No. 1,696.

During the two years I have worn it, I have never known it to be one minute in error, and for part of the time its accuracy has been so remarkable that I should hardly have believed it had it been told me by another person.

By my record, the watch exhibits the following remarkable result:

1877, December 18, slow 35 seconds,
1878, January 19, " 34 "
1878, February 12, " 30 "
1878, March 15, " 33 "
1878, April 26, " 30 "
1878, May 31, " 34 "

Thus showing from actual noting a variation of five seconds in many months.

It becomes very rare that such an accuracy should have been

The underwriters, of Boston, have shown the estimation in which they hold these watches by the numbers they have purchased for presentation to meritorious officers. Among those who have received these testimonials of distinguished respect, may be mentioned—

Capt. PITMAN and Officers, Ship Manlius.
Capt. GRIFITH MORRIS, Steamer R. B. Forbes.
Capt. BROCK, Ship Noonday.
Capt. I. S. KAMES, Ship Santiago.

We shall take pleasure in showing the above watches to any one desirous of examining them.
